Beauty Contest, Jazz, Play, Sports Highlight Houseparty

The Catatonic Five will highlight spring houseparty this year with a jazz concert from 9 a.m. until noon Saturday morning behind Chi Psi.

John Smith, chairman of the Social Committee, commented that "this spring houseparty offers a full and exhausting schedule.

The lacroose team opens the houseparty events this afternoon with a game against Colgate.

Tonight at 8:30, the Charlatans will give their final presentation of The Man Who Came to Dinner in Commons.

A block beer party will be combined with the jazz concert tomorrow. In case of rain, the Catatonic Five will play in Commons.

During the concert, the lacrosse team will sponsor a beauty contest to determine Miss Lacrosse of Hamilton. Any date is eligible for the contest, and the winner will represent the College in a later judging.

Athletic Events

At 2 p.m. tomorrow, the track team will run against Cortland in a dual meet, the tennis team will meet Rochester, and the golf team will play against Cortland. The baseball game against Rochester will be at 2:30.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated at noon Sunday in the Chapel.

College Suspends 4 From Campus For Vandalism

Four Hamilton students have been suspended from the College for ten days for removing a statue from the fountain in the Clinton park.

Commenting on the action, Dean Winton Tolles said, "We want to show the boys, the student body and the community that we will not tolerate acts of vandalism on or off the campus."

The students, Charles Mangan, John Paxton, and John Ziebarth, all freshmen, and David Hinchcliff, '57, may attend no classes or other college function until Monday, May 14. They may stay on the campus until Saturday noon to attend a legal hearing in Clinton Friday evening. After that time they may not be on the campus.

Ripping the statue from the fountain early Sunday morning, the boys carried it in a car to a fraternity house and later returned it to Kirkland Ave., near the Hayes National Bank. While no damage was done to the statue, the students broke a pipe leading through it and gouged up some of the park lawn.

The three older students pleaded guilty to disorderly conduct charges and posted $50 bail. Ziebarth pleaded guilty to a youthful offender charge. They will be sentenced Friday.

Connor Receives Danforth Grant

The Danforth Foundation has awarded Bob Connor one of the 77 Danforth fellowships granted to college seniors in the United States.

The fellowship is intended for men who plan to continue their graduate studies for more than one year, and provides for a stipend during the student's second and third years in graduate school.

After a year at Oxford studying under a Fulbright scholarship, Connor plans to continue his work in classical languages at Princeton, where he hopes to earn his doctorate.

Instead of providing the student with a specified stipend, the Danforth fellowship pays all the expenses which the student cannot meet himself.

Jim Magee, '55, received a similar fellowship last year. The award is based on the student's academic and extra-curricular record, as well as a personal interview.

Fraternity Council Selects McGann

The Interfraternity Council elected Al McGann president at its meeting Monday. Also elected were James McClintock, vice-president, and Richard Rockwell, secretary-treasurer.

Earl Cline, retiring president, appointed new members to the joint IFC Student Council committee investigating the proposed Student Senate. They are McGann, Paul McGiffin and Kevin Kehoe.

Besides the elections, the IFC considered the request of the college administration for fraternities to assume responsibility for the feeding of three foreign students next year. Psi U, Alpha Delt and DKE volunteered to take one student each and thus relieve the college of the board cost. Cline pointed out that this would enable Hamilton to have another exchange foreign student in the future.

Of the newly elected officers, McGann is vice-president of his class and a member of DKE, while McClintock and Rockwell are members of ELS and TKE

Bio Club to Dine, Elect on May 11

The Biology Club dinner will be at 6:30 p.m. Friday, May 11, at the home of Prof. Philip V. Rogers.

Martin Sorger, president of the club, has announced that the dinner will be open only to Biology Club members. The club will elect next year's officers after dinner.

Sorger extends the club's invitation to the College community to hear Dr. Earl O. Butcher speak on Research on the Skin at 8 p.m. that evening.

A professor of biology at Hamilton from 1928 to 1944, Butcher is presently a professor of biology and assistant dean of the New York University Dental School.

Butcher received his B.S. from DePauw University and earned his Ph.D at Cornell.

He has performed research on the endocrine glands and on the skin, and is "particularly qualified for his subject," Sorger noted.

SHOW "DIABOLIQUE"

The French film Diabolique featuring Simone Signoret, Vera Clouzot and Paul Meurisse is now showing at the Avon Theatre, Utica.

Charlatans Present Woollcott Whimsy

Maria Wallace is about to take an unexpected trip in the guise of an Egyptian mummy as Gary Tischler prepares to write finis to her machinations in the Charlatans' production of "The Man Who Came To Dinner". The play will be presented for the last time tonight at 8:30 in the Hall of Commons.

by Ridgley Pierson

The Charlatans gave a very entertaining first performance of its spring production, The Man Who Came to Dinner, by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, Wednesday night.

The Man Who Came to Dinner is by no means great comedy, and it may at first seem dubious that the Charlatans should revive it, for it has been done countless times both by professionals and amateurs.

The play is nonetheless a very funny one; and it is perhaps singularly appropriate for the Hamilton group to present. For the comedy's central character, Sheridan Whiteside, is a thinly-disguised stage caricature of Alexander Woollcott, who, with Prof. Robert Rudd, helped to found the Charlatans during his undergraduate days at Hamilton.

Whiteside, on a cross-country lecture tour, finds himself confined to a wheel-chair in the middle-class home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stanley in a small Ohio town and proceeds to turn the home into a madhouse.

Much to the discomfort of the Stanleys, he invites many of his peculiar friends to visit him, turns their living room into an office and radio station, and orders the members of the household about with sarcasm and amusing unpleasantness. The authors' humor is abundant, and the farcical situations created are often hilarious.

Carroll Directs Deftly

Ben Carroll directs the production with deftness and clarity. There are often a great many characters on the small stage, and Carroll's blocking is neat. The director keeps the action moving with appropriate swiftness.

As Whiteside, Mike Nadel gives a somewhat uneven but generally very good performance. The role is not an easy one, and there are times when one perhaps wishes that Nadel might deliver his lines with more bite. There are also moments in the early part of the play when Nadel speaks his lines with little conviction. His performance, nevertheless, when taken as a whole, is an adept and funny one.

In the role of Whiteside's secretary, Marion Shoninger is somewhat miscast. The Utica actress, who gave such a fine performance in The Death of a Salesman last fall, seems too old to fall in love with a young Ohio newspaperman. But Mrs. Shoninger is an expert actress and is quite convincing in all of her scenes except those with the newspaperman.

As Bert Jefferson, the young editor, Ed Smith gives a completely satisfying performance. His drunk-scene in the final act is done with good restraint and with humor.

Maria Wallace, as the glamourous actress of doubtable morality and high marital aims, is appropriately superficial and unattractive. His performance is well-drawn and amusing.

Feleppa Shows Versatility

Gary Tischler, as Banjo, (a caricature of one of the Marx brothers), and William D'Aran, as Beverly Carlton (Noel Coward) are extremely funny. Richard Feleppa again shows his versatility as an actor in the role of Prof. Metz, an eccentric entomologist. It would seem that the Charlatans, however, should give Feleppa better parts; he is one of our very best actors.

Ethel Cameron portrays Miss Preen, Whiteside's nurse with

Student Body Elects Bruck, Flanagan; Error on Ballot Forces Re-election of Two

A mistake by the Student Elections Committee necessitates a re-election for the senior representative and the representative-at-large to the Student Council, Peter Eckel, chairman of the committee said Tuesday.

The run-off election will be next Tuesday in Chapel.

Hal Bruck

Dick Flanagan

Hal Bruck and Dick Flanagan will represent their classes on the council next year, but the election of Don Seyba as representative-at-large and Carl Hansen as senior representative has been voided.

The committee's mistake concerns the nomination of Dave Quarton for the office of representative-at-large. The Elections Committee erroneously listed Quarton as a nominee for senior representative on the ballots distributed in Chapel and in the announcement in last week's Spectator.

Manager Notices Error

Jim Butterfield, Quarton's campaign manager, said that he noticed the mistake in the Spectator but passed it off as a journalistic error.

He did not contact Pete Eckel, chairman of the Elections Committee, until Tuesday night, after he had seen the error on the ballot.

Eckel granted that Butterfield's complaint was valid and nullified the election of the representative-at-large and the senior representative.

Nominees

The nominees for representative-at-large are Don Kittell, Jamie McClintock, Joe O'Brien, Al Olsen, Quarton and Seyba.

Men nominated for senior class representative are Bill Clark, Jay Eveleth, Hansen, Pete O'Hara and Bob Regan.

Flanagan will serve his second year on the council, having been freshmen class president. He is also a member of the Honor Court, Charlatans and Debate Club.

Students Receive McKinney Awards In Speech Contest

by Bruce Geer

Richard Rubinson, David McMillan, and Richard Flanagan won the 84th McKinney Prize Speaking contest Monday evening at Alpha Delt.

The contest required juniors to deliver impromptu speeches with six minutes' preparation. Sophomores delivered extemporaneous speeches while freshmen worked from memorized material.

The winners will receive selections of books.

Rubinson's topic for impromptu discussion was An Appraisal of Modern Television. His remarks included a study of the development of modern television, its good and bad points and suggestions for its improvement.

Savett, second prize winner for the juniors, sketched The Evolution of the Laugh. His study included both a history and a psychological analysis of the laugh. Griffin Bates and Joby Burns spoke on Why do People Laugh at Freud? and Powder Keg of the 1950's, a discussion of the Middle East.

McMillan Wins

McMillan, speaking extempore won the sophomore prize with his speech, New York City Has a Heart. His illustrations of the true nature of the city, taken from his own experience, contrasted with the rather impersonal atmosphere of the competition. Leber's The American Public and the Medical Profession, which won second prize included an analysis of the present disrespect and distrust of doctors by the public and suggested steps to correct this unfortunate situation.

A third sophomore, Kenneth Berkes, spoke on Growing up in College. Harold Bruck, the fourth competitor, was ill and unable to give his speech, How Real is Religious Revivalism?

Memorized Selections

The freshmen delivered memorized speeches. Flanagan selected a speech, The Spirit of Liberty, which was originally addressed to a largely immigrant audience by Judge Learned Hand.

Murdock, giving Adlai Stevenson's There Are No Gibraltars, won second prize. John Griffin offered Lilienthal's Credo of Democracy and Richard Storm recited Harold Dodd's The Phenobarbital Age.

Request for Radio Station Rejected By Hill Trustees

A request by a group of students for $3,000 to re-establish WHC, the Hamilton radio station, was rejected by the Trustees Committee on Instruction at the trustees meeting, April 20.

Forwarded to the Trustee committee by the Faculty Committee on Student Activities, the report proposed the purchase of equipment to be set up in Root Hall, which would comply with Federal Communications Committee regulations.

The faculty committee recommended that this activity be supported if the money was available, noting that the technical problems which caused the previous failure of the station could be overcome.

The trustees felt that the money for the station was not available and also criticized the annual financing plans.

Hamilton GOPers Hear Assemblyman

Tuesday at Chi Psi, a group of about 15 students met to revive the Young Republican Club. Dan Hofgren of Colgate was present to aid in the reorganization.

Hofgren informed the prospective members of the functions of such an organization and the duties of its members. He later stated that he was very much pleased at the interest that was shown.

Assemblyman William S. Calli of the second district of Oneida County also addressed the group. He stated that he would be glad to furnish the club with any material that it might require.

Calli said that he was once a member of a Young Republican Club, and the experience received from it has proved invaluable to him.

The following people were elected to temporary offices: Pat Bremer, chairman; Jim Bromley, secretary; and Fred Chase, publicity director.

Bill Tennant, Terry Hayes and Bill Flynn were appointed as a committee to draw up a constitution for the organization.

A meeting was tenatively scheduled for May 2 at Chi Psi. Bremer encouraged any interested Republicans to attend the next meeting, when elections will be held.

Gambs to Discuss Fulbright Plans

Prof. John S. Gambs, new chairman of the Faculty Committee on Studies, urges all juniors who plan to apply for Fulbright scholarships in their senior year to attend a meeting at 4 p.m. Monday, May 14, in 5 Truax.

Gambs will discuss applications and plans for Fulbright grants, which cover tuition, transportation and living expenses at foreign universities, at the meeting.

He commented that Hamilton has always maintained a "distinguished record" of Fulbright winners and that he hoped that this record would be continued next year.

Bob Connor, Mike Sundell and Sam Schulman are the three three members of the class of '56 who have received Fulbright scholarships for next year.

Local Chapter Quits National Fraternity

The Phi Sigma Kappa chapter at Dartmouth College announced last month that it had severed all connection with its national organization.

A statement said the action was taken because "it is incongruous for any organization founded on brotherhood to sanction discrimination on the grounds of race, color or creed."

The chapter has been reorganized on a local basis under the name of Phi Tau fraternity.

"We have been under no compulsion, save that of our own consciences, to take this action," the statement said. "Our primary allegiance as a college organization is to Dartmouth and affiliation with the national organization is not necessary for the successful existence of a fraternity on this campus."

Buffers in Rest Room Recitals

by Don Spector

When the Buffers sang at the White Elephant night club in Canastota last year, they were agreeably surprised to find themselves billed as "The leading college octet that is taking the country by storm." Although the truth of this press agent's masterpiece is questionable, it does attest to the success the group has met with in the five years since its birth.

In 1951, a group of Hamilton students, under the leadership of Laurie Gulick, '52, got together informally to do some close harmony singing. The rest of the story followed in typical Hollywood style — once they got a chance to sing in public, they were immediate successes. Under the name of the Buffers they spread out and began singing for college dances, men's club functions and charity shows.

The Buffers once limited themselves to traditional barbershop ballads of the Sweet Adeline variety. Since then they have taken on a new look. They've added to their repertoire such modern numbers as Moonglow and Penthouse Serenade as well as such novelty numbers as By the Mill and Cocaine Bill. (The latter is their most popular number, according to Paul Carter, leader of the group.)

According to Tom Haspenflug who sings bass in this year's group success hasn't gone to their heads. Unlike most successful singing groups, the Buffers often find they have to warm up in rest rooms before going on stage.

But even this ignominy doesn't seem to hold the boys down — once, they rehearsed a few numbers in a men's lounge before going on, finding out only afterwards that their performance had gone out over the entire building via the ventilating shaft.

A Buffers lot is not an easy one. Eight out of every nine candidates are rejected. Once he is chosen, a Buffer must rehearse constantly until he is ready for his first performance which usually comes only a few weeks after tryouts.

Even the veteran Buffers must rehearse at least twice a week, perfecting old numbers and learning new ones. This, with the actual performances which sometimes average three per week, keeps a Buffer on the move.

But all this work doesn't go unrewarded. Not only do they benefit financially from most of their jobs, but they also gain a certain amount of pride. For instance, a Buffer can honestly claim that he's sung at Town Hall. (If he's really honest he'll add that he actually sang at the Town Hall Club, one flight up from the famous concert hall.)

The Buffers have found that music really does have charms. Once a group of them crashed a party in Greenwich Village. Instead of being thrown out, they became the hit of the party and had to sing until the wee hours of the morning.

Although they've sung at such places as Cornell, Skidmore, and Smith, the Buffers' proudest moment, according to Paul Carter, was when they sang for two and a half hours while entertaining in the children's wards of two Buffalo hospitals. They've done quite a number of charity performances including an appearance this year in the Junior League Follies in Utica.

Four senior Buffers, Paul Carter, Tom Haspenflug, Ron Hovey, and Joe Giglio, will be giving their last performances as the school year comes to a close. The six men left (two are alternates), Mal McClinchie, Dave Quarton, Bill Madden, Kip Webster, Everett Kelsey, and Tim Scholl, have the job of choosing replacements next fall.

No matter who wins the vacant spots, one thing is sure — if this year's schedule is any criterion, the Buffers are going to be a busy group next year.

The Beginning...

"Is this all?" many of us asked as we read the report released last Thursday by the Student Curriculum Committee. The product of a year's work by the six-man committee, the report advocated a new world literature course to be open to juniors and seniors. Our superficial disappointment, however, was to a great degree dispelled after we discovered the goals of the committee and the obstacles it had to fight.

The Committee's greatest and most distressing problem was student disinterest. Although many people complained to committee members about boring classes and/or professors, unfair assignments, and other such criticism, only one student, we understand, actually appeared before the committee with some constructive, positive suggestions. While the committee used (and appreciated) the criticism as leads for finding some of the College's curriculum problems, it had to draw almost all of its constructive thinking from among the six members.

Wisely avoiding any criticism of specific departments during its first year, the committee felt that it would be wisest to wait until it gained some stature among the students and faculty before taking the risk of hurting anyone's feelings. The Spectator hopes that future committees will honestly criticize some of the existing courses.

Here are some of the problems and ideas the Committee has had to tangle with: the Man and Superman reading program, informal language courses, visiting professors, use of alternate textbooks, a science course for non-science students, final exam schedule revisions, credit for band, excessive science requirements for premeds, and complaints against specific courses.

The committee avoided using what Chairman Granof called a "shotgun approach," trying, instead, to cover thoroughly one important change — the world literature course. Since the Curriculum Committee had about 25 meetings to get six people to agree on the content and organization of a new course besides considering the other problems mentioned above, it is, we believe, gratifying that it accomplished all that it did.

Granof is optimistic for next year's committee, since 13 people have expressed a desire to fill the four available openings on the committee. The Spectator hopes that those students interested in building Rome in the proverbial day will channel their energies into constructive suggestions for the new committee to study.

25 YEARS AGO

From the Hamilton Literary Monthly and the Hamilton Life:

Students who wish to retain their present quarters should renew their leases before May 15, when the drawing of rooms for those who wish to change will occur. A deposit of ten dollars is required of each occupant of a room at the time his lease is issued.

Drawing, as usual, will be by lot and in order of classes. All leasees of rooms must secure enough roommates from the men now on the Hill to fill the suites before June 1, or the College will reserve the right to fill the vacancies with freshmen in the fall.

50 YEARS AGO

Ad: Custom tailoring at moderate prices is our motto. $16.00 to $30.00 for your suit or overcoat. Nobly up to date styles and high grade work. Robert-Wicks Co.

Wednesday night the D.T.'s gathered for a good time in Henderson's room on the top floor of Carnegie. Of course a good share of the evening was spent in discussing the merits and demerits of the Freshman Class. Some conclusions were arrived at which will be made known in due time. They will doubtless be announcements of deep and abiding joy to their recipients. "Johnnie" had brewed some glorious golden punch which all declared to be nectar fit for the gods. Anyway, managed to imbibe a pailful of it.

Heacock, '06, "turned her over," threw in the "high speed," and ran down to Gloversville in his motor Friday. Warburton, '06, and the Holley's, '08, were the cargo.

75 YEARS AGO

Many of the exchange editors with whom we have become acquainted during the past year have already retired, leaving their papers to the care of their successors. Thus instead of the usual sarcastic and critical comments we see words of praise; as if the new editors were pleading for a kindly consideration of their first effort. We admire their modesty, and forebear to say anything that might discourage them in their new undertaking.

BRUCK TAPPED

Was Los tapped Hal Bruck Tuesday as their sixth and final candidate.

Bruck has been on the varsity football and track teams for two years, has served as secretary of the Student Council, and is a member of DT.

Stickmen to Sponsor Search; Seek Sex to Send to Geneva

This weekend, when College Hill will once again be blessed with presence of the female form a queen will be crowned. She will be Hamilton's representative to the Miss Lacrosse of 1956 Contest, which will be held in Geneva, N. Y., on June 8.

Her majesty will be selected from a group of twelve candidates, from the eleven fraternities and Squires Club, and will be crowned at jazz concert, Saturday.

Three connoisseurs of pulchritude, Dean Winton Tolles, Public Relations Head Tim Hyde, and Director of Athletics Mox Weber, will judge the winner and perform the coronation ceremonies.

However, the queen's reign will not be limited only to Hamilton College campus. After her short two-day rule here, she will travel on to Geneva where she will compete with beauties from Cornell, Syracuse, and three other upper New York State schools for the title of Miss Lacrosse of 1956.

Morton, Harvard Graduate, Jersey Rector, to Speak

Rev. James Morton, associate rector at Grace Episcopal Church, Jersey City, will speak in Chapel Sunday.

Morton attended Phillips Exeter Academy, after which he went to Harvard, where he received his B.S. in architecture and history of architecture.

A member of Phi Beta Kappa, he was graduated magna cum laude, and won a Charles Henry Fiske fellowship to Trinity College, Cambridge.

At Trinity, Morton earned a B.A. and M.A. in theology. He was also awarded a S.T.B. from General Theological Seminary, New York.

According to Chapel Dean Miller, Morton must cope with such community problems as unemployment, malnutrition, discrimination and lack of recreation.

INTERFRATERNITY SING

The Interfraternity Sing will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday on the Sigma Phi lawn.

Students to Elect Court Members

Honor Court elections will be held in Chapel Tuesday.

One junior, two sophomores and one freshman will be elected to next year's court. As specified in the Honor System Constitution, the court will elect one of its present junior class members to serve as chairman for the following year.

The incumbent court will nominate students from each class, but the student body has the right to propose further nominations from the floor.

The sixth member of the court will be appointed from the class of 1960 next fall.

Winners of the Honor Court elections will be announced in next week's Spectator.

DT, the sophomore honorary society, requests that all freshmen attend Chapel Tuesday and leave by the front exit.

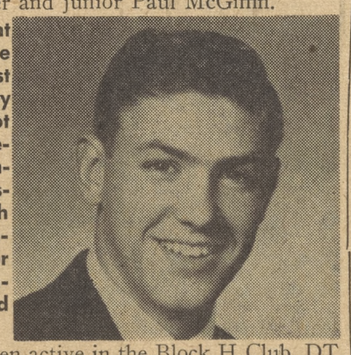
SIDELINES

by Sherwin Weinstein

This week two athletes share the Sidelines salute as "Athlete of the Week"—senior Roger Mosher and junior Paul McGiffin.



Mosher, a pre-medical student from Pulaski, New York, led the Hamilton lacrosse team to its first victory since 1954 at Middlebury last Saturday afternoon. He not only played an outstanding defensive game, but he also contributed five goals and two assists to the winning cause. Coach "Duke" Nelson, Middlebury lacrosse mentor, commented after the game that Mosher's performance was the finest that he had ever seen by a midfielder.

At Hamilton, Mosher has been active in the Block H Club, DT, the Biology Club, French Club, and Psi U (where he has managed aged the kitchen as steward for two years.)

Paul McGiffin has been chosen to share the spotlight this week by virtue of the outstanding job he turned in in the javelin throw against Union. With a throw of 196 feet, the six foot junior bettered his own school record by more than seven feet.

Nor is this his first record. As a Summit High School senior in 1953 McGiffin captured the New Jersey Suburban Conference Championship and the New Jersey State Meet. Since that time, he has also taken winning honors for the Hamilton thinly-clads in the 1954 and 1955 New York Conference Meets.

McGiffin is a member of Alpha Delta Phi, the Choir, the Honor Court, Was Los, the Student Admissions Committee, French Club, Block H Club, the Chapel Board, and a former member of DT.

Remember to choose your house representative to the Miss Lacrosse Contest and to support your athletic teams this weekend—they are playing for you.

Track Team Wins Upset Over Union In Initial Contest

The Hamilton College track team successfully opened its season last Saturday with a thrilling 65-61 win over Union at Schenectady.

Outstanding Continental performers of Saturday's meet, which saw the Blue cop eight firsts, were Peter Eld and Paul McGiffin, both winning two events. Eld swept the low and high hurdles in 16.4 and 25.4 respectively, while McGiffin won the discus with a 115' 2" toss and hurled the javelin 196 feet to shatter his old mark which was set against Union two years ago, by more than seven feet.

This afternoon, the Hamilton College lacrosse team opens spring houseparty festivities by playing host to the strong Colgate University team.

In Vermont last Saturday, the Blue stickmen snapped a losing streak, dating back to May of 1954, as they convincingly routed Middlebury College 14 to 5. It was an impressive victory staged before an enthusiastic spring weekend crowd who had hoped to see Middlebury annex their initial victory of the season.

Middlebury Scores First

Middlebury scored quickly in the opening minutes of the contest, but their lead was short lived as the Continentals, paced by Don Ivers and Rog Mosher, began a relentless barrage on their goal. In the opening minutes, Mosher opened the scoring for Hamilton with the first of five goals to tie the score, and the rout was under way. Before the contest was over, nine players had dented the Middlebury twines to conclude a true team victory.

Co-captain Don Ivers scored two goals from the outside, while adding four assists, and Rog Mosher paced the first midfield which accounted for half of the

The University of Rochester provides the opposition in the Hill's Spring Houseparty baseball attraction tomorrow at 2:30. The Continentals will be seeking to go above the .500 mark for the first time this year and to whip the Yellowjackets for the third straight season here at Clinton.

Hovey Hurls Win

Ace righthander Ron Hovey hurled the Continentals back into the win column last Wednesday with a brilliant four hit victory over Union at Schenectady. It was the first Hamilton road victory since 1954.

Union's Dick Grinnell pitched a good game in his own right as he blanked the Battmen until the eight inning when they touched him for three runs. Art Melius led off the inning with

Golfers Game For Houseparty

The Hamilton College Golf men will be seeking their fifth consecutive win tomorrow, when they meet Cortland State Teachers' College. The Continentals downed Cortland last year 5½ to 3½, and are favored to score a repeat performance again this season.

Coach Don Jones announced that he will start Ward Wettlaufer, Dan Koehler, Ron Woodward, Bob Mongeau, Jerry Walsh, and Bill MacFarland, respectively, against the Red Devils in tomorrow's houseparty match.

Last Wednesday afternoon, the Hamilton team downed the University of Rochester linkmen 5½ to 3½ and revenged the 5-4 setback suffered at Rochester earlier this season. In recording the win, freshman Ward Wettlaufer and Jerry Walsh remained undefeated in intercollegiate match play this season. Wettlaufer, playing in the number one spot, also took medalist honors with a 67 stroke score.

Earlier in the week the Jonesmen traveled to Oswego, where they chalked up a 6½-2½ victory against Oswego State Teachers' College. Mongeau, Walsh, and Wettlaufer scored wins for the Buff and Blue cause.

This week's third golf triumph was registered last Saturday as the Continentals whitewashed Union 9-0. Koehler, Wettlaufer, Woodward, Mongeau, Dick Plotka, and "Kim" Levine turned in winning cards against the Dutchmen.

CHI PSI ELECTS

James Gillespie was elected president of Chi Psi at its meeting Tuesday. Other officers include Roger Prokop, vice-president and corresponding secretary, Daniel Langan, recording secretary, and Rick Hatch, treasurer.

The election of two students to next year's Athletic Council will be held in Chapel Tuesday.

Hamilton AAUP Prepares Handbook; Consults Faculty For Suggestions

The Hamilton chapter of the American Association of University Professors is undertaking the preparation of a handbook for the use of faculty members, particularly those new to the campus.

The proposed handbook will supplement the catalogue and the student handbook.

Prof. Coolidge of the chemistry department has prepared a tentative outline for the booklet and hopes that any faculty member with suggestions or criticism will contact him by May 7.

Nine separate sections are included in Coolidge's proposed outline, each section covering a concern of the faculty.

Items covered are the administration, the faculty, faculty status, services to faculty, faculty benefits and privileges, academic program, student activities, alumni relations and "the local scene."

To avoid duplication, the handbook will also contain a section with references to the catalogue and student handbook on matters pertaining to student activities.

a walk, Hovey doubled, and both scored when Grinnell threw away Hasseltine's bunt. Hasseltine then scored on Mike Slattery's sacrifice fly.

Union scored its only run in the third. Wodarzak reached first via Slattery's error, stole second, and went to third on Fivaz's wild throw. Drescher then walked and stole second, Wodarzak completing the double steal by dashing home.

A big Parents' Weekend crowd last Saturday saw Stevens Tech battle the Blue for the first time since 1952 and win a 5-2 victory. For half an inning it looked like a bright afternoon for Greg Batt's men. Eric Hasseltine led off the Hamilton second with a single, stole second, and advanced to third on a wild throw by Tech catcher Machowski. Freshman first baseman Scot Finegan then sliced a drive down the right field line for a two run homer that put the Continentals into a short-lived lead.

In the top of the third, Stevens went to work on Hill starter Gordie Hall, tallying four runs on four hits, a walk, and two Hamilton errors. By the time a rainstorm drove the crowd away in the top of the fourth, Stevens hurler Ray Ziegler had the situation well in hand. He retired the last twelve Blue batters in order, striking out five.

Presberg Leads Netmen Tomorrow

The University of Rochester will provide the opposition in tomorrow's tennis match on the Hamilton courts.

Presberg, John Roberts, and Captain Dick Miller will occupy first, second, and third positions, respectively, with Pete Cox, Tim Smelzer, and Phil Lord filling out the remaining three singles positions.

Because of a misunderstanding concerning contract agreements, Utica College failed to appear for a scheduled match on Wednesday. The match was cancelled.

Student Council . . .

Bruck has been secretary of the Student Council for the past year. He is treasurer of the Block H Club and belongs to the football and track teams, DT and Was Los.

Eckel noted that only 460 students voted in the election and expressed the Election Committee's wish that more would be present at the assembly next Tuesday to vote in the Student Council re-election and the Honor Court and Athletic Council elections.

Lacrosse . . .

Hamilton goals. Carl Hansen played a rugged defensive game

The attack accounted for four goals, one at 7:40 of the fourth period when George Holbrook threaded a pass to Bill Penfield who then threw in an accurate quick stick for a score. Bob Behnke, Steve Greenhut, and Dave Merkle also added single tallies. Also the entire Hamilton attack did an outstanding job of ragging Middlebury on their clears, one of Hamilton's weaknessess in the past.

Dave Smalley, Sherwin Weinstein, and Co-captain Wayne Mahood started on the defense for the Blue and did a good job in bottling up the Middlebury attack. Mahood also picked up a score when he carried the ball across the midfield line on a clear in the second period. Tom Succop, Bob Job, and freshman Bill Hoyt also saw action on the defense. Roger Pisani guarded the nets for Hamilton making 11 saves and doing an excellent job on his clears.

Next Wednesday afternoon, the Continentals will make up a game postponed earlier in the season when they entertain Cortland State Teachers College at Clinton. These two teams have always played close and hard fought games, and they appear to be very evenly matched this year. Cortland will once again be paced by attachman Bruce Allison, who scored a last second goal to defeat the Blue last season. After Cortland, a two game home and home series with Union will round out the schedule.

sharpness and wit. Her scenes with Whiteside are among the best, and Mrs. Cameron plays them superbly.

As members of the Stanley family, Lina Slater, Richard Flanagan, Tabitha Huber, and Tom Putnam are cast well and perform very capably. May Barton is both hilarious and somewhat touching as Mr. Stanley's insane, Lizzie Bordenesque sister.

In the role of Whiteside's doctor, William Wieting is somewhat awkward; his performance, however, is more than adequate. As the young man with whom the Stanleys' daughter falls in love, Craig Pritchard is wooden and not very convincing.

Sylvia Saunders and Pat Gregory, as ladies not unlike those so memorably drawn by the late Helen Hokinson, are hilarious in their brief scene.

In smaller parts, Peter Case, Lauraine Stripp, John Moran, Peter Wyckoff, William Alford, Gray Akers, Leon Gane, Richard Parker, Jamie McClintock, Walter Smyth, Rusty Herbsman, and Jon Slater are all competent; and that is all one asks of them.

Track . . .

ton exchange student, Hauker Bodvarsson won the quarter mile in 53 seconds flat.

Other first places for the Longmen were won by Mal McClinchie, who put the shot 40 feet, and by record-holder Joe Nuccio, who cleared the high jump bar at 5'10".

Depth proved all-important in Saturday's win as White and Mal McClinchie placed third in the broad jump and javelin respectively and senior Pres. Dawes took second in the high jump. Jim White and John Weatherly also nailed down second and third places in the shot put.

Hal Bruck and co-captain Earl Cline placed second and third behind Union's Cole in both the 100 and 220 yard dashes, with Cline also copping a second in the broad jump. Finally, a second in the 2 mile run was recorded by Al Shaler, while Bill Poole and Junior, Chris Durham, ran third for Hamilton in the mile and 440 respectively.

Tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. Coach Long's trackmen will entertain Cortland State Teacher's College, whom the Blue have not defeated since 1949.
